SENTINEL OF LIBERTY

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

In our first three chapters, we met Steve Rogers, young army reject who desperately wanted to serve his country. With America on the brink of war, Steve was chosen for a top-secret experiment called Project: Rebirth. Injected with the super-soldier serum, Steve was endowed with incredible strength, speed, and agility. He was asked to serve his country as Captain America, the Sentinel of Liberty.

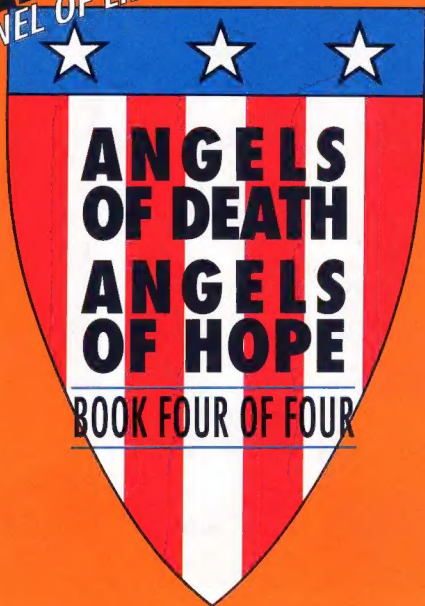

But first Steve had to go into hiding for a while. A Nazi spy had infiltrated Project:Rebirth, and the army wanted Cap incognito until the identity of this "Agent X" was revealed. While in training at Camp Lehigh, Steve met young army mascot Bucky Barnes, and Lieutenant Cindy Glass, who would go on to become Steve's first love.

The Nazis would not rest until they discovered the secret of the super-soldier serum that created Cap. Cap's mentor Col.Fletcher was kidnapped, in an attempt to lure Cap into a trap. Cap raced to Fletcher's rescue, but arrived too late. Fletcher died, and the trap was sprung. An anguished Cap had to face the first true test of his new abilities as he encountered the vicious Death Squad in battle throughout Paris. When last we saw our hero, Cap was hanging from the Eiffel Tower, while the Red Skull stood above him, a gun pointed at his head....

YOU SHALL BE ABEL. ALLOW ME TO BE CAIN. ALLOW ME THE HONOR OF KILLING YOU!

Thus begins the epic conflict between Captain America and the man who is destined to become his greatest foe, the Red Skull! The year is 1940, and Cap is on his very first adventure! He's been captured by the Nazis and taken prisoner in a concentration camp. Cap has been brought here (along with his young ally, Bucky) for one purpose: to battle the Red Skull to the death in a Roman-style colosseum!

The Skull thinks this match will be a great propaganda tool for the Third Reich. He wants to deal a blow to the morale of the American people, as the living symbol of the American dream is to be humiliated before a huge audience. For Cap, it's a chance to prove he has what it takes to be the super-soldier, and to strike a major blow for freedom.

The die is cast. There can be no turning back now. This will be the ultimate battle between the greatest warriors of two nations. For both Cap and the Red Skull, this may well be the most important fight of their lives. And you are there, with a ringside seat!

The fate of the free world is at stake. If Cap loses, we all lose!
